CHARGE OF MURDER

William Taylor Accused of Taking Life of His Stepmother.

KILLING OCCURRED IN BALTIMORE

The Accused Man Arrested in This City Today.

MAKES A STATEMENT

William Glenn Taylor, a Washingtonian, son of Charles Taylor, a pensioner, is under arrest on the charge of foully murdering his stepmother, Mrs. Marian Porter 16 Scott Taylor, in a lodging house at No. 214 5 North Calvert street, Baltimore, yesterday afternoon. Two bullets were sent into the head of the victim. A third shot intended for Arthur Scott, a son of the woman, missed its mark. As soon as the third shot had been fired Taylor left the house and escaped before the police could be notified. The son of the woman, who witnessed the murder, ran to the hospital for a surgeon, but he returned to the house only to find that death had relieved the sufferings of the victim of the murderer's revolver. Within an hour of the time the murder was committed the police of this city were notified, and Inspector Boardman sent out a number of detectives to search for Taylor. Up to this morning he had not been apprehended. Charles Taylor, father of the alleged mur-derer, was divorced from his first wife and his second marriage was bitterly opposed by the son. The young man and his stepmother did not get along well together, and the former seldom visited the latter. He invariably sided with his mother in every domestic difference. The stepmother, who was a Miss Marian Porter Willard, and she was the widow of Arthur Scott, a Baltimore printer, when she married Taylor. She recently left here and went to Baltimore, where her husband was employed. He was not at home yesterday when the crime was committed. When he returned and learned of what had taken place he was almost crazed with grief.

It is said that young Taylor's grandmother died some time ago and left about $4,000 to the elder Taylor, although Glenn expected a share of the money. Glenn Taylor was seen in the Baltimore and Ohio depot as late as 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Detective Horne. His appearance indicated that he had been drinking. It is thought he went to Baltimore soon after he was seen in the depot here, and upon his arrival in that city he lost no time in reaching the house where the tragedy was Admits Firing Shots.

Taylor was arrested and taken to the sixth precinct station about 10 o'clock by Special Policeman John E. Tolson, who met him at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and 6th street northwest. He was in a serious condition, the result of three weeks of dissipation, and as soon as he was locked up he asked for his wife and mother, and also asked the officers for a drink. To a Star reporter he admitted having fired several shots, but said he really intended no harm when he drew the weapon from his pocket. Just how or why the trouble occurred, he said, he could not exactly tell, and he only fired the shots when Arthur Scott and a friend had him cornered. His father, he said, had given him $2.00 of his grandmother's estate, and he was perfectly satisfied.

The prisoner said his father and stepmother had been drinking here last we and were compelled to leave their rooms.

city, going back to Baltimore late yester-day afternoon. While in Baltimore he was out drinking with his father. Leaving the latter in a saloon, he says, he went to a store on Harrison street, where he bought a pistol for $1.75. The weapon, he said, he purchased for the purpose of protecting his

Being unable to find the latter, he went to the room at No. 214 North Calvert street and sent out for beer. Later the trouble occurred, and after getting out of the house he realized that he had done something serious. He then left the city, and the night was spent on the road. Early this morning, he says, he boarded a train at a station on the Baltimore and Potomac railroad and came here. Upon his arrival in this city, he said, he went to the house of his mother, No. 611 6th street northwest, where he saw in a morning paper the result of the shooting. He then concluded he would give himself up, and he went out to find a policeman. Special Policeman Tol-son, who knew Taylor, had been on the lookout for him. Because of his condition, a physician was called upon to attend him before he was taken to Baltimere this In further explanation of the affair Taylor said his father's second wife abused him, calling him a thief, and also referred to his mother in an uncomplimentary manner. He was anxious to see his father was told that he had gone out hack riding. He surrendered the revolver to the police, and the weapon was turned over to the Baltimore police to be used as evidence against him

Arthur Scott's Statement. Arthur Scott, who witnessed the shooting, gives his version of the affair as fol-

"Just before the shooting there were in my room my friend, Charles Hengemihle, 301 North High street, my mother, my wife, my little child and myself. We were hav-ing a friendly chat. My mother, my stepfather and his son, William Glenn Taylor, had come over from Washington about noon and were visiting my family. My stepfather had gone out, and Taylor, his son, was looking for him. He rushed into the room where we were, and said gruffly to my mother: 'Where's father?' She re-'I don't know; I guess he's gone out.

"Yes, you do know, too, he retorted, but mother said again she did not. "Then Taylor stepped toward her as if to shake hands. Suddenly he whirled around, and before any one knew what he was about he had whipped a pistol from his pocket, aimed at mother's head and shot twice. As he did so he shouted: " 'Take that, even if it puts a rope around "The shots did not make very much noise.

Seeing mother fall, I rushed to her, and as I did so Taylor banged away at me. But either he did not aim well or I jumped behind some furniture before his pistol went off, for I was not wounded. "Taylor ran out of the house and got away. He had, I suppose, about $250 in his possession, and will probably go to Wash-ington. He was always of a bad nature, and had quarreled with his wife. He never and had quarreied with his wife.

liked my mother after she married his father. Recently they had sold some property and made some money, and he had been hounding both of them to get all the money from them he could. "I could not believe that my mother was dead, and rushed to the City Hospital for a physician. They told me there that I would have to bring my mother to the hospital, which, of course, was out of the question, as no one could tell how many minutes she had to live.

"I shall never tire until the murderer of Another Statement. Mr. Taylor, father of the alleged murderer, in conversation with a reporter in Baltimore last night had this to say: "With my wife I had been living at 217 "With my wife I had been living at 217 B street northwest, Washington. The trouble with my son started in this way: My first wife, his mother, behaved so badly that I got a divorce from her in 1886. She is still living in Washington. My son sided with her and did not want us divorced. When I married that woman there whom he killed—pointing to the body of his wife on the floor—he became jealous and at once formed a dislike for her. We were married in October, 1887, and I tried every way to make my son get along peacefully way to make my son get along peacefully with her. He said he didn't like her and that I had no business marrying her. He quarreled with her nearly every time they met, and one time nearly beat her to death on the street in Weshington.

Its holdings in the Kern River District alone place the company far in the lead of any oil company offering its stock to the public. The company's faith in its own proposition is shown by the fact that upon request they will give a written guarantee, which enables you to withdraw your investment with 8% interest at the end of one year, should it not prove entirely satisfactory. Is anything fairer or more honorable than this?

The Eastern Star Oil Company will stand investigation. Its officers are men of character, with over 30 years' experience in the Oil Business. We don't ask you to invest your money and later find that you have been paying to educate some one in the Oil Business, with the sad experience of paying dearly for the experiment. Read what an Oil Magnate and the leading Commercial Agencies of this Country have to say of the Management and Property of Eastern Star Oil Company:

No. 1. Testimony of One of the Largest Oil Operators on the Pacific Coast, a man who has made his Millions in Oil.

"I have just come from the Pacific Coast and, reading your advertisement, I thought I would just stop in to congratulate you on your good fortune in representing a Company which owns land in Section 29. If your Company did not own another acre, nothing could prevent your paying stupendous dividends for years to come." But the Eastern Star Oil Company owns nearly 1,700 acres additional, right in the heart of the Kern River and Newhall Fields.

No. 2. From an Influential Citizen of New York City.

"I have been deeply interested in Oil Investments, knowing that many fortunes have been made the past year in California Oil, also knowing that when P Company had producing wells in a good district there was nothing safer or more profitable. To make sure, I asked for a special report on your Company, its Management and Properties by Bradstreet's Commercial Agency, and it was so very favorable that I decided to invest in the Diamond Star Oil Company, but was too late, as it had been over-subscribed. I got in just in time to secure Central Star Oil Company before it advanced in price, and I herewith enclose you my own order with two others, and several of my friends will be in tomorrow. Mr. Shemmerhorn, your President, is highly spoken of as an oil man who thoroughly understands his business, and a man of integrity.

No. 3. From a Prominent Citizen of Washington, D. C. . "The reports of the Eastern Star Oil Company are so flattering that you may enter my Order for 50,000 Shares, and herewith find enclosed my Check for $12,500.00."

Name used by permission:

Mr. Ira S. Boughton of Boston telegraphed to his son, who is a business man living in Los Angeles, Cal., as to his opinion of Eastern Star Oil Company. He replied, saying: "Buy all the Eastern Star you can. It is a splendid proposition. Eastern people have no conception of the great amount of money being made in Oil Investments. Sell the home, and you and mother come out at once."

What the Press Says:

Daily Californian, Feb. 12, 1901-Stupendous Sale of Oil Land-Section 33, 28-28 Said to Have Been Bonded to an English Syndicate for $5,000,000-Deposit of $100,000 Has Been Put Up-The largest sale, a stupendous one, since the discovery of oil in Kern county, is reported on what appears to be reliable authority. The sale is only prospective as yet, but the purchaser, an English syndicate, has made a deposit of $100,000 as a guarantee of good faith. This property is in sec. 33, adjoining Eastern Star Oil Co. A bond has been given by the Thirty-Three and the Imperial companies to deed their 640 acres, section 32, 28-28 to the syndicate upon the payment of $5,000,-000. This price is at the rate of $7.812 an acre, equal to about $7,500 for the naked land. In the neighborhood of $200,000 has been spent by the companies in the way of improvements, which includes some thirty

Los Angeles Herald, Dec. 2, 1900-The following oil lands are mostly located in sec. 29, where Eastern Star Oil Co. is: The Grey Eagle Oil Co. sold 160 acres of their holdings for $116,000; the Kern River Oil Co. 240 acres, for which they received $399,920; Canfield & Chanslor refused, a short time ago, $4,000 per acre for a portion of their lands; the Sacramento Oil Co. $5,-000 per acre, and many of the lands are held as high, even, as $10,000 per acre. The Reed Oil Co. sold its holdings for $1,800, 000, and Jewett & Blodgett sold 420 acres with a few wells for $550,000.

Consumption positively cured! By a new theory of treatment I positively guarantee a cure! This claim is readily verified by the many in this city who have been cured. My treatment gives the most brilliant results ever obtained in pulmonary diseases, either in this country or by the famed specialists of Europe! No treatment ever conceived has met with such success. I positively guarantee a cure.
